

SHOWING HOW ART MEEKER WOULD DO IT

Above you may observe the likeness of the Hon. Arthur Meeker.

The Hon. Artie used to spend all his time out at the stockyards, increasing the high cost of living and giving an excellent example of the cost of high living.

But of late Artie has suffered from an idea. This idea is that he ought to reform the morals of Chicago's "400."

Artie has not been doing this long. There is no report of his attempting suicide up to date.

The "400" is the other name for the gang that can dance the can-can in the Blackstone and get flowers for it, while other boobs who try to dance it in a public 5-cent dance hall get pinched.

Just in case you do not get the full force of this, cast your eyes on the next photograph. This is of the Misses Virginia Fissinger and Roschen T. Baker.

The Misses Fissinger and Baker are of the elite—whatever that is—of Chicago sassiety, as anyone can see from the amount of clothes they wear.

When this picture of them was snapped, the ladies were dancing the Eurythmy, which is the latest fad of high society.

The chief feature of the Eurythmy is that you dance it in
